PHARMACY

A Pharma degree is a gateway to enter into the field of medicinal research and development as a career option. A drug/medicine before being prescribed by a doctor has to undergo innumerable tests and approvals. It is further tested in a lab, studied for dosage and side effects, there after the guidelines for prescription are formed. The medicines then undergo clinical trials and only when after studying all the possible effects of the medicine, it is introduced in the market. Pharmacists plays a vital role in the entire process. Hence they are mandate elements for introducing a new drug/ medicine to various medical practitioners.
