International Women's day in 2023:

International Women's Day is celebrated in many countries around the world. It is a day when women are recognized for their achievements without regard to divisions, whether national, ethnic, linguistic, cultural, economic or political. A woman named Clara Zetkin (Leader of the 'Women's Office' for the Social Democratic Party in Germany) tabled the idea of an International Women's Day. She proposed that every year in every country there should be a celebration on the same day - a Women's Day - to press for their demands. The UN theme for this year's International Women's Day is "Gender equality today for a sustainable tomorrow, recognizing the contribution of women and girls around the world, who are leading the charge on climate change adaptation, mitigation, and response, to build a more sustainable future for all."

Samskruti College of Pharmacy celebrated the International Women's day on 8th March 2023 where in the female students and the staff members gathered in the Auditorium. Some of the participants shared the experiences of their achievements with the others. The female HODs of the college were addressed on the theme of this year's Women's day and its significance to all other participants. The HODs also given the motivational speeches to the participants which are very useful especially to the girl students and the young female staff members of the college for their future growth. This celebration has also provided a platform to discuss and share among the participants the various problems and difficulties being faced by female students and staff members of the college and the relevant changes that they are expecting from the management can be taken to its notice for appropriate solution.

Gender equality implies that the interests, needs and priorities of both women and men are taken into consideration, thereby recognizing the diversity of different groups of women and men. Gender equality is not a women's issue but should concern and fully engage men as well as women. Gender equality, also known as sexual equality or equality of the sexes, is the state of equal ease of access to resources and opportunities regardless of gender, including economic participation and decision-making; and the state of valuing different behaviors, aspirations and needs equally, regardless of gender. Therefore, it is essential to make the students and staff members of the college aware about various aspects related to Gender equality achievement.

In this program the participants were made aware about

- Gender equality and its need.
- The causes of gender inequality.
- Solving the gender inequality.
- Examples of equality.
- Benefits of gender equality.
- Improvement of the society by gender equality.
- Promoting gender equality as a student.
- Achievement of gender equality.

Gender refers to the characteristics of women, men, girls and boys that are socially constructed. This includes norms, behaviours and roles associated with being a woman, man, girl or boy, as well as relationships with each other. As a social construct, gender varies from society to society and can change over time. Gender is of key importance in defining the power, privilege and possibilities that some people have and some people do not have in a given society. It affects progress towards equality and freedom from discrimination. Therefore it is essential to make the students and staff members of the college understanding about various aspects of gender.

- In this program the participants were made aware about
- What is gender? and What is an example of gender?
- When was gender first used?
- Gender Roles in Society.
- Gender role theory.
- Gender bias.
- Gender equality.
- The four main types of gender.
- Understanding by gender concepts.
